Good Day,

The document entitled "Intelligence Terminology", PP-10-1090, has been reviewed for classification and public dissemination by DJP5, and the wording for NSTS needs to be changed as follows to be UNCLASSIFIED:

National Security Agency Secure Telephone System (NSTS) - A stand-alone secure telephone system. IC entities call these phones by different names, such as grey, white, or green phones, although these colors do not always reflect the actual color of the telephone unit.

The NSANet description is UNCLASSIFIED.

When the changes are made to the NSTS definition the statements will be determined UNCLASSIFIED and hereby APPROVED FOR RELEASE.

This approval is for the exact information submitted. Any changes, other than typographical or grammatical, require a new review prior to publication/dissemination
